AMESBURY

The territory comprising the present town of Amesbury was originally a part of Salisbury. On May 23, 1666, "Salisbury-new-town" was granted the privileges of a town, and May 27, 1668 the name was changed to Amesbury. In the Massachusetts Bay Colony records the name is entered as "Emesbury."

May 12, 1675, just and full bound were allowed to Amesbury.

On Mar. 15, 1844, part of Salisbury, called "Little Salisbury," was annexed.

Mar. 11, 1876, part of the town was established as Merrimac.

Jan. 1, 1886, part of Salisbury was annexed.

The population of Amesbury at different periods was as follows:
